Regulated & Non-Regulated Grading Permit

The enactment of Act 167 in Pennsylvania passes the responsibility to manage stormwater runoff to local municipalities. The result is an obligation on a landowner to manage even the most minor of construction projects through proper design of stormwater management facilities. This application defines specific thresholds for permit requirements.

The first threshold is for projects that either disturb more than 5,000 sq. ft. of existing vegetative cover or plan to increase impervious cover by more than 1,000 square feet. These activities are defined as "regulated construction." The act goes a bit further and adds any project that alters "the natural hydraulic regime" is also required to meet these rather stringent permit obligations. The Township reserves the right to classify any work, regardless of its volume/size, that significantly alters the natural hydraulic regime as regulated work.

In general, minor building additions, patio constructions and changes to the land would not rise to this threshold level. These minor projects will not be required to provide detailed design plans. However, any project that concentrates stormwater runoff to an adjacent property or changes the rate of runoff to an adjacent property will need to meet the standards identified in the balance of the Township's Act 167 ordinances.

Please note the Township will be keeping records of property's cumulative impervious surface coverage. When the 1,000 square feet of impervious surface threshold is met, a regulated grading permit will be required.
